DEPARTMENT OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL

"LAND REGISTRY ACT"

HIS HONOUR the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, by Order in Council No. 641, dated March 23rd, 1956, has been pleased to report that it is proposed, in accordance with the provisions of the "Land Act," to grant to the Westcoast Transmission Company Limited, a company incorporated by a special Act of Canada (hereinafter called "the Company"), rights-of-way over certain Crown lands for the purpose of constructing and operating a pipe-line in connection with the Company's undertaking:

That the Company has submitted that it would be expedient and in the interests of all concerned if the title conferred by these grants could be registered under the provisions of the "Land Registry Act":

That the "Land Registry Act" permits registration of these estates only where the title of Her Majesty appears in the register, and accordingly the Legislature has endowed the Lieutenant-Governor in Council with power to make regulations permitting and governing the registration of these estates as enacted by section 257 (2) of the "Land Registry Act":

That in certain areas the grant will be issued on the basis of a preliminary or interim type of plan of the right-of-way, based upon the plans prepared for the Board of Transport Commissioners, showing a width of the right-of-way of eighteen hundred feet, in order to allow sufficient width to determine the dimensions of the right-of-way when the pipe-line is actually constructed, and that the width of the final right-of-way will, except in special cases, be reduced to sixty feet, and it is therefore expedient to prescribe regulations governing the preliminary and final surveys of the right-of-way:

And to order that, under the provisions of the "Land Registry Act" and all other powers thereunto enabling, the following regulations be made:—

1. A Crown grant of the right-of-way in favour of the Company shall be transmitted to the proper Land Registry Office, and when received the Registrar shall enter Her Majesty as the owner of the land described in the Crown grant in the register; and upon application being made for the registration of the Company's title to the right-of-way, and upon compliance with the provisions of the "Land Registry Act" and of these regulations in so far as they are applicable, shall register the title by endorsing a memorandum thereof on the register; provided that the boundaries of the land described in the Crown grant and in the register shall be subject to amendment to conform with the boundaries as defined by the final plan, as under Regulation 4, and in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Regulation 5.

2. On completion of construction of the pipe-line the right-of-way shall be reduced and surveyed to a total width of sixty feet, except where a greater width is deemed necessary, and subject to the approval of the Surveyor-General.

3. Where the final location of the pipe-line is determined before construction, the final survey may be made before construction, except for posting, but such posting shall be carried out within eighteen months after the completion of construction of the pipe-line.

4. Within eighteen months after completion of construction of the pipe-line, the Company shall prepare a final plan of the right-of-way, based upon a survey in accordance with the provisions of the "Land Registry Act" and the regulations which the Surveyor-General has issued or may issue, and shall deposit such copies of the plan with the Surveyor-General as he requires. The Surveyor-General shall, after approval, transmit the necessary number of copies of the plan to the proper Land Registry Office for deposit.

5. When the final plan has been deposited in the proper Land Registry Office, the Registrar shall amend the register which shows Her Majesty's title to the land comprising the right-of-way and the title of the Company by striking out the description of the land therein and substituting therefor the description of the land according to the final plan, and shall endorse a note of the Order in Council on the register; the latter description shall limit and govern the boundaries of the right-of-way, and shall relate back to and have the same force and effect as if that description were contained in the original Crown grant of the right-of-way and registered in the register.

PURSUANT to the provisions of the "Workmen's Compensation Act," the Workmen's Compensation Board has adopted, after a public hearing held at Vancouver, B.C., on November 28th, 1955, the following accident-prevention regulations, effective on and after April 1st, 1956:—

FOREWORD

No set of safety regulations can completely cover all of the hazardous situations that may arise in any industrial undertaking. This is particularly true in the exploration for oil and natural gas where unknown natural forces can create dangerous conditions that must be dealt with immediately and effectively without opportunity for consultation and planning. Remoteness of the operation from agencies and supplies that could normally be called on for assistance in meeting emergencies, the difficulties of transportation and communication, roughness of terrain, and the inclement nature of the weather, all present obstacles that must be overcome in the most expedient manner. These circumstances make the problem of preserving the safety of workmen more than ever a matter of prudent action, intelligent forethought, individual responsibility, and co-operative effort.

The omission of specific direction in these regulations does not relieve any employer of responsibility to see that his operations are circumstanced and conducted with a full regard for the safety of the workmen. Supervisors will be held responsible not only for the enforcement of these regulations, but also for those safe practices which experience, trade knowledge, and common sense have shown to be essential for the prevention of injuries. Workmen are required by law to comply with all accident-prevention regulations which affect their own safety or the safety of any other person.

DEFINITIONS

In these regulations:—

"Board" shall mean the Workmen's Compensation Board, and "Inspector" shall mean any Inspector appointed under the "Workmen's Compensation Act," or acting under the authority of the Board:

"Employer" shall include every person having in his service under a contract of hiring or apprenticeship, written or oral, express or implied, any person engaged in any work in or about an industry, as defined in the "Workmen's Compensation Act":

"Supervisor" shall mean any person to whom the employer has delegated authority and responsibility for the direction and control of workmen:

"Workman" shall include a person who has entered into or works under a contract of service or apprenticeship, written or oral, express or implied, whether by way of manual labour or otherwise, as defined in the "Workmen's Compensation Act."

AUTHORITY

The "Workmen's Compensation Act" (R.S.B.C. 1948, chapter 370), as amended, reads in part as follows:—

"58. (1) The Board shall have power:—

"(a) To investigate from time to time employments and places of employment within the Province, and determine what suitable safety devices or other reasonable means or requirements for the prevention of accidents shall be adopted or followed in any or all employments or places of employment:

"(b) To determine what suitable devices or other reasonable means or requirements for the prevention of industrial diseases shall be adopted or followed in any or all employments or places of employment:

"(c) To make rules and regulations, whether of general or special application, and which may apply to both employers and workmen, for the prevention of accidents and the prevention of industrial diseases in employments or places of employment:

"(3) The Board and any member of it, and any officer or person authorized by it for that purpose, shall have the right at all reasonable hours to enter into the establishment of any employer who is liable to contribute to the Accident Fund and the premises connected with it, and every part of them, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the ways, works, machinery, or appliances therein are safe, adequate, and sufficient, and whether all proper precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents to the workmen employed in or about the establishment or premises, and whether the safety appliances or safeguards prescribed by law are used and employed therein, or for any other purpose which the Board may deem necessary, including the purpose of determining the proportion in which the employer should contribute to the Accident Fund. Immediately after each visit the person authorized under this subsection shall cause to be posted in a conspicuous place, at or near the mine, works, establishment, or premises, a statement showing what portion of the mine, works, establishment, or premises has been inspected, and the condition found to prevail therein; and he shall furnish a copy of the statement to the manager of the mine, works, establishment, or premises.

"(4) Every person who obstructs or interferes with any Commissioner, officer, or person in the exercise of the rights conferred by subsection (3) shall be guilty of an offence against this Part.

"59. (1) Where in any employment or place of employment safety devices or appliances are in the opinion of the Board necessary for the prevention of accidents or of industrial diseases, the Board may order the installation or adoption of such devices and appliances, and may fix a reasonable time within which they shall be installed or adopted, and the Board shall give notice thereof to the employer. The employer shall notify the Board in writing as soon as any such order has been complied with.

"(2) Where safety devices or appliances are by order of the Board under this section required to be installed or adopted, or are prescribed by the regulations, and the employer fails, neglects, or refuses to install and adopt such safety devices or appliances in any employment or place of employment in accordance with the terms of the order or regulations and to the satisfaction of the Board, or where under the circumstances the Board is of opinion that conditions of immediate danger exist in any employment or place of employment which would otherwise be likely to result in the loss of life or serious injury to the workmen employed therein, the Board may, in its discretion, order the employer to forthwith close down the whole or any part of the employment or place of employment and the industry carried on therein, and the Board shall notify the employer of the order.

"(3) Every employer who fails, neglects, or refuses to comply with any order made by the Board under subsection (2) shall be guilty of an offence against this part, and each day's continuance of any such failure, neglect, or refusal to comply shall constitute a new and distinct offence.

"60. (1) No employer shall, for the purpose of any industry within the scope of this part, commence the operation of or operate or carry on any mine, plant, or establishment, or any substantial addition thereto, which has not been in operation for the period of seven months last preceding, and in which power-driven machinery is used, until leave therefor is obtained from the Board as provided in this section.

"43. Where an accident causing injury to a workman in respect of which compensation is payable has occurred, and where, in the opinion of the Board, the accident was due entirely to the gross negligence of the employer or to the failure of the employer to adopt reasonable means for the prevention of accidents or to comply with the directions of the Board, or with the regulations made under this Part, the Board may levy and collect from the employer as a contribution to the Accident Fund the amount of the compensation payable in respect of the injury, and not exceeding in any case three hundred dollars, and the payment of such sum may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an assessment may be enforced."

PENALTY

Every person who contravenes any of the following regulations shall be liable to a penalty of not more than three hundred dollars.

PART I.—GENERAL

Application

1. These regulations shall apply to all employers and workmen concerned with search for petroleum or natural gas, including well-drilling, the moving, erection, and operation and maintenance of derricks, and of all equipment and processes concerned with the servicing and treatment of wells.

2. The requirements of the General Accident-prevention Regulations shall continue to apply to the operations covered by these regulations.

3. Regulations issued pursuant to the "Petroleum and Natural Gas Act, 1954," which concern or affect the safety of workmen, shall be deemed to be a part of these regulations.

4. In these regulations the words, terms, and expressions used shall be given the connotation commonly ascribed to them in the operations to which these regulations apply.

5. All regulations herein specify minimum standards which shall be maintained. Conditions not specifically mentioned in these regulations shall be subject to the directions of the Board.

Employer's Responsibility

6. It shall be the duty of the employer to familiarize himself with and to enforce all accident-prevention regulations that concern him or the operations under his control, and to make certain that all supervisors and workmen know and comply with such regulations. In general, and without in any way relieving the employer of his responsibility, tool-pushers and drillers shall be responsible for the safety of all workmen employed under their supervision.

7. It shall be the responsibility of the employer and all supervisors to see that every person who is assigned to operate any tool, machine, or equipment, or to carry out any work process or procedure that might endanger any workman, has been trained and has demonstrated his ability to carry out the assignment without undue risk under all normal conditions.

8. It shall be the responsibility of the employer to see that all buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment are of sufficient size and strength to safely withstand imposed stresses and to safely perform the functions for which they are used.

9. Regular inspections of all buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment shall be made by a competent person or persons as often as the character of the equipment and type of operation require. Defective equipment or unsafe conditions found by these inspections shall be corrected, replaced, or otherwise placed in a safe condition.

Duties of Workmen

10. Every workman shall use all safeguards, safety appliances, or devices furnished for his protection, and shall carry out all regulations which concern or affect his conduct.

11. No workman shall use any tools, appliances, machinery, or equipment unless authorized to do so by his supervisor.

12. Any workman who uses equipment in a negligent manner which endangers other workmen and any workman who fails to use reasonable means for the safety of other workmen shall be liable to the penalties provided under these regulations.

Safety Committee

13. The management of every operation in which twenty or more workmen are employed shall maintain an accident-prevention committee consisting of not more than twelve members nor less than four members. Members of the committee shall be designated in equal numbers by the workmen and by the employer. Workmen representatives shall be regular employees in the operation, with at least one year's experience in that type of operation over which their inspection duties shall extend. The chairman and the secretary shall be elected from and by the members. In case of a tie vote the employer shall appoint the chairman and the workmen's representatives shall elect the secretary. The general duties of this committee shall be:—

- (a) To make a thorough inspection, not less than once a month, of the entire plant or place of employment for the purpose of determining hazardous conditions, to check on unsafe practices, and to receive complaints and recommendations with respect to these matters;
- (b) To investigate promptly all serious accidents and any unsafe conditions or practices which may be reported to it. Such investigations shall include accidents which might have caused serious injury to a workman, whether or not such injury actually occurred;
- (c) To hold regular meetings at least monthly for the discussion of current accidents, their causes, suggested means of preventing their recurrence, and reports of investigations and inspections;
- (d) To keep a record of all investigations, inspections, complaints, recommendations, and minutes of meetings. The minutes shall indicate what action has been taken with respect to suggestions or recommendations previously made, and if no action has been taken, the reason therefor shall be given. Copies of minutes shall be sent promptly to the Workmen's Compensation Board;
- (e) To investigate fire conditions, examine fire-escapes, fire-extinguishers, water-buckets, sand-buckets, and all fire-fighting appliances;
- (f) To inspect lighting arrangements in all places of employment, and to report to the employers all insufficiently lighted places, passage-ways, and other portions of the plant or camp where workmen are liable to be injured in the course of their employment;
- (g) To inspect or arrange for the inspection of all machinery, power transmission, motor stops, cables, blocks, slings, chains, tongs, tools, equipment, and accident-prevention devices;
- (h) To provide at each establishment facilities for receiving written complaints and recommendations.

14. When less than twenty men are employed in an operation, the management shall arrange for a meeting to be held each week for the discussion of matters of an accident-prevention nature. Such meetings shall be attended by as many of the crew as possible, and shall be directed by a supervisor along lines that will develop a correction of unsafe conditions and practices and encourage a co-operative interest in the safety of the operating personnel. A record shall be kept of the meeting and of the matters discussed.

First Aid

15. Every employer shall provide and maintain first-aid supplies and equipment in compliance with the Minimum First-aid Service Requirements issued by the Board.

Illumination

16. Adequate illumination shall be provided in all working areas, taking into consideration the nature of the work involved and the accepted standards of quantity and quality of light requirements.

Clothing

17. (a) Workmen shall wear clothing suitable for the weather conditions and the work being performed. Loose-fitting jackets or sweaters, dangling neckwear, loose shirt or trouser cuffs, or torn clothing that might be contacted by moving equipment shall not be worn.

(b) Clothing that is soaked with inflammable matter that constitutes a threat from fire shall be replaced by clean apparel.

(c) Workmen shall wear shoes of substantial construction, and shall maintain them in good condition, with soles and heels of a material that will produce the least slipping hazard under the conditions where employed.

Personal Protective Equipment

18. Safety-hats shall be worn by workmen in all occupations in which there is a recognized hazard from falling objects.

19. Properly fitted goggles, face-shields, or other suitable protection shall be worn wherever workmen are engaged in occupations in which there is a recognized eye hazard from flying objects or molten metal, from injurious light or heat rays, or when handling materials liable to injure or irritate the eyes.

20. Workmen shall not expose any part of the body to substances injurious to the skin. When such hazards exist, workmen shall use suitable protective clothing, or devices.

21. (a) When it is impracticable to provide adequate ventilation and workmen are exposed to injurious gases, fumes, or dust, they shall be supplied with, and shall use, such masks, helmets, or respirators as will afford full protection.

(b) Whenever a deficiency of oxygen might exist in the atmosphere of work-places, air or oxygen supply-type respirators shall be provided and worn by workmen entering such places.

(c) When, in a place of employment, workmen could be exposed to injurious gases, there shall be kept in or about the premises at least two units of respiratory protective devices suitable for the nature and possible concentration of gases. This protective equipment shall be located in a readily accessible place and, if possible, outside of the area likely to be contaminated by gases. The equipment shall be maintained in good working condition at all times.

(d) When workmen might be required to use respiratory equipment, they shall receive instruction and practice in the use of such equipment.

Safety-belts

22. Safety-belts shall be worn by workmen when working at elevations greater than ten feet (10 ft.) above grade when it is impracticable to provide adequate working platforms or stagings for the performance of such work, or when entering bins, hoppers, chambers, or vessels where there is a danger of being overcome by air contamination or oxygen deficiency, or by being trapped or buried by the movement of material, or when working where they are in danger of falling into pits, shafts, or moving machinery and the hazard cannot be otherwise guarded.

23. When workmen are required to work in any chamber, vessel, bin, tunnel, or other place where there is a danger of being overcome by contaminated air or oxygen deficiency, or of being buried or trapped by moving material, such workmen shall be equipped with safety-belts and life-lines and shall have another workman stationed in a position where he can readily effect the rescue of the workman exposed to the hazardous condition.

24. (a) When required to prevent falling, belts, safety-straps, life-lines, and all interconnecting parts shall be, separately and as an assembled unit, of sufficient strength to support a suspended load of one thousand pounds (1,000 lb.). When not used to check falling, safety belts and straps shall be of sufficient strength to support a suspended load of five hundred pounds (500 lb.).

(b) All metal fittings, such as belt-rings, strap or rope terminals, and buckles, shall be made from metal having a tensile strength of not less than fifty thousand pounds (50,000 lb.) per square inch and an elongation in two inches (2 in.) of not less than fifteen per cent (15%). All fittings shall be of forged construction. The use of cast devices is prohibited.

25. Life-lines and safety-straps shall be fastened and used in a manner that will limit the free fall of a workman to the least practicable amount.

Transportation of Workmen

26. Whenever it is necessary to transport workmen by water, suitable boats with adequate life-saving equipment shall be provided, and these boats shall not be overloaded at any time. A suitable life-jacket for each person transported and a life-buoy with line attached are required. These boats shall also be equipped with a dinghy, life-boat, or other approved type of buoyancy equipment. When boats are powered by inboard internal-combustion engines suitable fire-extinguishers shall be carried on board.

27. Suitable provision shall be made for seating workmen when they are being transported by motor trucks or cars, and workmen shall not sit on the floor of the vehicle with their legs hanging over the sides. Seats shall be securely fastened to the vehicle floor or side-walls, and the outer ends of longitudinal seats shall be constructed in such a manner that the workmen cannot slide or be jolted off the seats.

28. When the body of the vehicle is enclosed, some form of ventilation shall be used to remove any possibility of the air becoming contaminated, an interior light shall be provided, and some means of signal device or method of communication shall be provided between the driver and the passengers. When the rear end of the body is open, the exhaust outlet shall be located at the side of the vehicle.

29. Equipment or material of a size or weight that might endanger workmen from inadvertent precipitous movement shall not be carried within the body of a vehicle transporting workmen. Explosive or inflammable material shall not be transported in a vehicle used to transport workmen.

Mobile Equipment

30. (a) Powered mobile equipment shall be maintained in good running order, and shall be equipped with horns or similar warning devices when the movement of such equipment presents a threat to workmen. Lights shall be provided and used when equipment is operated during hours of darkness.

(b) When equipment is used in locations or under conditions where there is a danger of falling objects, an overhead guard shall be provided to protect the operator. The equipment shall be provided with a shelter to protect the operator from inclement weather. Cabs and similar enclosures shall have some means of ventilation.

(c) When mobile equipment uses hoisting or hauling ropes and the operator is exposed to danger when such ropes break while under tension, a guard shall be installed to protect him from such hazard.

31. (a) Only competent and trained operators shall be assigned or permitted to operate mobile equipment.

(b) Operators shall examine their equipment before starting work and shall be responsible for reporting in writing to their immediate supervisor or other authorized person all defects or unsafe conditions. Suitable log-books or report forms shall be available for this purpose.

(c) The operator of any mobile equipment shall be directly responsible for the safe operation of his equipment. When he has any doubt as to the safety of the machine or of the load, he shall not move the equipment until safe conditions have been provided or until orders to proceed have been issued by some person in authority, who then shall be responsible for the safe operation of the equipment.

(d) When the vision of the operator is obstructed, operations shall proceed only on signal from a designated signalman who has a clear view of the path to be travelled or of the movement to be performed.

Machinery

32. Machinery and equipment shall be operated only by persons authorized by the employer.

33. Where power-driven machinery is used, a stopping device shall be provided at each machine, within easy reach of the operator. All machines not individually motor-driven shall be equipped with a loose pulley or a clutch, or some other adequate means of stopping the machine quickly. Starting devices shall be arranged to prevent accidental starting.

34. The cleaning and oiling of machinery while in motion is prohibited in all cases where exposure to harmful contact with moving parts is involved. Before any machinery or equipment is to be repaired, it shall be shut down. The power shall be disconnected and the control device tagged, locked, or otherwise made inoperative. Tags used for the purpose shall warn against starting of such machinery, and shall bear the name of the person responsible for shutting same down. All other persons shall be prohibited from starting the equipment. Before any person starts any machinery or equipment, he shall make certain that no person will be endangered by the equipment being put into motion.

35. (a) All belts, ropes, or chains used for the transmission of power, all gears, sprockets, clutches, cranks, connecting-rods, and all revolving parts of machinery exposed to contact shall be enclosed, screened, or railed off in such a manner as to adequately prevent any workman from contacting same.

(b) All nip points and pinch points of all types of machines and the cutting-edge of all power-driven tools and production equipment shall be guarded to prevent accidental contact by workmen.

(c) All abrasive wheels shall be guarded in such a way as to restrain flying parts of a burst wheel and to limit the dispersal of dust and particles produced by the grinding operation.

Scaffold, Stages, Walkways, and Ladders

36. All scaffolds, stages, walkways, stairways, and ladders shall be substantially constructed of approved materials in conformity with the General Accident-prevention Regulations, and shall be maintained in safe condition.

37. (a) Standard handrails shall be installed along the edges of every open-sided floor, working-platform, runway, walk, or balcony which is four feet (4 ft.) or more above the floor or ground level, and along the edges of all other platforms or openings where the safety of workmen is involved.

(b) Standard handrails, except for stairways, shall be not less than forty-two inches (42 in.) in height and shall be provided with a top rail and intermediate rail spaced midway between the top rail and floor-level. Railings shall be constructed in a permanent and substantial manner and shall be smooth and free from protruding nails, bolts, and splinters. Posts or uprights shall be spaced not more than eight feet (8 ft.) apart, centre to centre.

(c) Floor openings, wherever practicable, shall be protected with standard handrails and toe-boards.

(d) When the work being performed is such that there is a danger of objects falling into work areas or passage-ways, the opening between the floor and handrail shall be enclosed with wire mesh, boards, or other suitable material.

PART II.—DRILLING EQUIPMENT AND PRACTICES

Unsafe Equipment

50. No derricks, buildings, draw-works, links, elevators, tongs, machinery, tools, or other equipment shall be used which are unsafe, unsuitable, or not so constructed, protected, placed, and operated as to afford reasonable safety from accidents to persons employed in or around wells.

Derricks

51. Subject to the provisions of Regulation 89 (c), the engine-room, pump-house, derrick floor, and fourble-board shall be adequately enclosed to a sufficient height to provide suitable protection for workmen during seasons of inclement weather.

Exits

52. (a) Where practicable, an exit shall be provided on each of at least three sides of the derrick-room, in addition to one from the dog-house direct to the outside.

(b) The pump-house shall have two doors leading to two different directions to the outside, placed as far apart as practicable.

(c) All exit doors of a derrick, including all doors of the dog-house, shall open outwards, and shall not be held closed with a lock or an outside latch when workmen are employed in the main derrick-room.

Access and Egress

53. Safe means of access and egress shall be provided to all work areas.

Floors

54. (a) Every floor, platform, walk, and runway shall be kept reasonably free from drilling-fluids, mud, oil, grease, or other like substances which create a slipping-hazard or prevent or hamper the escape of workmen in an emergency.

(b) Every derrick floor shall completely cover the space within the perimeter of the derrick or to the outer boundary of the floor when it extends beyond the perimeter of the derrick, except for openings that are necessary for installation of equipment used in connection with the operations, and such openings, when not occupied by the equipment or when not necessary to be open, shall be covered or otherwise guarded to prevent workmen accidentally stepping or falling therein.

(c) When the derrick floor adjacent to the bottom section of the derrick ladder is more than two feet (2 ft.) above the ground or another floor or platform, the derrick floor shall extend to at least two feet (2 ft.) beyond the climbing-face of the ladder, and the extended portion of the floor shall be not less than four feet (4 ft.) in width.

(d) The outer edges of all floors, platforms, walks, and runways that are four feet (4 ft.) or more above the ground or another floor-level, except entrance and exit ways, loading and unloading areas shall be guarded with standard guard-railings or equivalent.

(e) If the height of a floor, platform, walk, or runway exceeds six feet (6 ft.) above ground, another floor, or working-level, the guard-railing shall be equipped with substantial toe-boards not less than six inches (6 in.) in height that will prevent material falling off the floor. The bottom edge of the toe-boards shall not be spaced more than one-half inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ in.) above the floor to permit drainage.

(f) Derrick floors, derrick walks, and engine-room floors shall not be used as storage-platforms for idle equipment or material which is not for immediate use, unless properly racked or stored so as to avoid obstruction or congestion of work area or access way.

(g) Every runway, wherever located, shall be not less than two feet (2 ft.) in width. When guard-railings are provided on a runway, they shall be so installed that no part of the railings or the toe-boards will reduce the clearance on the runway to less than twenty inches (20 in.).

Outside Derrick Platforms

55. (a) On every jack-knife derrick constructed for drilling or equipped for redrilling, a platform at least two feet (2 ft.) wide shall be provided on at least one side of the crown block. This platform shall be equipped on its outer edges with a standard two-rail railing.

(b) On every other derrick constructed for drilling or equipped for redrilling, a platform at least two feet (2 ft.) wide shall be provided around the edges of the crown-block platform. This platform shall be equipped on its outer edges with a standard two-rail railing.

(c) A platform shall be provided completely around the derrick, level with the derrickman's principal working-platform. The width of such platform shall not be less than two feet (2 ft.). Platforms shall be provided with openings not exceeding thirty inches (30 in.) by thirty inches (30 in.) to permit the passage of men climbing derrick ladders. Standard railings, three and one-half feet ($3\frac{1}{2}$ ft.) high, shall be provided around the outer edges of the said platforms and with toe-board six inches (6 in.) high around the inside and outside edges of such platforms.

Inside Derrick Platforms

56. (a) Each platform erected on the inside of every derrick, except at the stabbing-board, shall completely cover the space from the working-edge of the platform back to the legs and girts of the derrick.

(b) The decking plank on the working-side of each platform shall be secured to the derrick girts with U or J bolts.

(c) Each working-platform shall be equipped with a soft iron or tiller rope cable, not less than one-half inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ in.) in diameter, securely fastened under and over all platforms with U or J bolts, both ends being secured to the same girt of the derrick.

Stabbing-boards

57. Where stabbing-boards are used, they shall be constructed of not less than one fir plank, three inches (3 in.) by twelve inches (12 in.) and one reinforcing-plank, two inches (2 in.) by twelve inches (12 in.), or material of equal strength; all planks to be free of knots or other defects. Pieces of not less than two-inch (2-in.) angle iron shall be bolted near both ends of the three-inch (3-in.) by twelve-inch (12-in.) board, either inside or outside the girt supporting the board. In addition, each end of the board shall be fastened to the derrick with a safety-line of soft-metal cable one-half inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ in.) in diameter, securely fastened to the inside of the board with U or J bolts, but at a point not exceeding three feet (3 ft.) toward the centre from the girts.

Gin-poles

58. (a) A gin-pole shall be installed on a derrick when it is necessary to install, remove, or lift a crown block or to hoist or lower any material through the opening in the derrick-top that is too heavy to be handled manually.

(b) A gin-pole shall consist of not less than two upright members supporting a horizontal header member, and the latter shall extend in a horizontal plane across the approximate centre of opening in the derrick-top.

(c) The minimum clearance between the bottom of the horizontal header member of the gin-pole and the tops of the beams on the derrick-top which supports the crown block shall be not less than twice the over-all height of the crown block or other such material being handled, and in no case shall such clearance be less than eight feet (8 ft.).

(d) A gin-pole shall be so designed and constructed to sustain the maximum compression load imposed thereon with a safety factor of not less than three. The top tackle block shall be suspended from the gin-pole's horizontal header member as near the centre thereof as is practicable.

Crown Blocks

59. (a) Each gudgeon of each sheave of a crown block shall be provided with complete metal bearing-housing, a metal bearing-housing, a metal strap or equivalent housing, securely fastened to the crown-block beams in such a manner that neither the sheaves, sheave bearings, or housings can be accidentally dislodged under normal operating conditions.

(b) There shall be no openings between the beams or main supporting members of framework of a crown block large enough to permit a workman to fall through. The openings in a derrick-top, after the crown block has been installed, if large enough that there is a possibility that a workman can fall through, shall be sufficiently filled in with substantial material to immediately eliminate such hazard.

Fingers

60. On all rotary rigs where a finger is used at fourble platforms, such finger shall be secured to the derrick by a wire-rope safety-cable not less than one-half inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ in.) in diameter attached to the outer end of the finger.

Ladders

61. (a) Access shall be provided from the derrick or mast floor to the top of the derrick or mast and to each intervening platform in or on the derrick or mast by means of fixed ladders. Each derrick gin-pole and each mast having a gin-pole shall have access provided to the top thereof by means of a fixed ladder.

(b) Rungs of metal ladders shall have a clearance of at least six inches (6 in.) behind the rungs and shall be secured to the stringers or side-rails to prevent them turning. Ladder-rungs shall be uniformly spaced at least twelve inches (12 in.) but not more than fourteen inches (14 in.) measured from top to top of rungs. The width of ladders shall be not less than twelve inches (12 in.) and not more than sixteen inches (16 in.) in the clear between the stringers of side-rails. A ladder shall extend to at least three and one-half feet ($3\frac{1}{2}$ ft.) above each ladder offset platform or other platform which it serves on or in a derrick or mast. Metal ladders shall be secured in place with brackets and bolts or equivalent fastenings at intervals necessary to prevent any portion of such ladder bending more than one inch (1 in.) out of alignment under normal use. No ladder or section thereof shall lean backward from the vertical, nor shall a ladder or section thereof lean sideways more than three (3) degrees from the vertical; the ladder rungs, however, shall not have a slope in excess of one (1) degree from the horizontal. Ladders shall be free of projections on which the clothing of workmen may be caught or that present a tripping-hazard.

(c) All ladders shall be caged or provided with platforms at not more than twenty-one feet (21 ft.) apart or with other approved derrick-ladder safety equipment.

(d) Caging of a ladder shall be constructed of metal hoops securely fastened to the ladder and spaced not more than six feet (6 ft.) apart and extending out not more than thirty inches (30 in.) from the rungs of the ladder. Hoops shall be fastened together by metal bars at least one inch (1 in.) by one-eighth inch ($\frac{1}{8}$ in.), spaced not more than twelve inches (12 in.) apart. The lower hoop of such caging shall not be more than eight feet (8 ft.) from any landing.

(e) Platforms shall be not less than four feet (4 ft.) long and shall extend at least thirty inches (30 in.) from the rungs of the ladder and be equipped with standard two-rail railings, the top railing to be not more than forty-two inches (42 in.) above the platform. Platforms shall be provided with openings not exceeding thirty inches (30 in.) by thirty inches (30 in.) to permit the passage of men climbing derrick ladders.

Ladders on Sheathed Derricks

62. Derricks which are sheathed (enclosed or boxed in) shall have the ladders installed and other safety provisions made, as follows:—

(a) A derrick which is sheathed, but not on all sides, shall have the ladder installed on an unsheathed side of the derrick:

(b) A derrick which is sheathed on all sides shall have openings in the sheathing to provide direct and safe access to each inside derrick platform and ready and quick exit to the outside of the sheathing from each inside derrick platform:

(c) A derrick which is sheathed on all sides shall have openings in the sheathing adjacent to the ladder at each elevation in the derrick where workmen are required to perform operating duties (such as installing a stabbing-board and performing duties thereon or changing light-globes), or in lieu of such openings shall have a ladder installed inside the derrick extending from the derrick floor to three and one-half feet ($3\frac{1}{2}$ ft.) above the principal drill-pipe or tubing platform:

(d) When a stand-pipe is located on the side of a derrick which is sheathed, a fixed ladder shall be installed inside the derrick adjacent to the stand-pipe, extending from the derrick-floor to at least three and one-half feet ($3\frac{1}{2}$ feet) above the goose-neck on the stand-pipe.

Auxiliary Escape

63. (a) Auxiliary means of escape from the fourble-board, or the principal working-platforms on every drilling-derrick, shall be provided by means of a specially rigged escape-line from the working-level to the ground. Each escape-line shall be not less than one-half-inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ -in.) diameter soft iron-wire rope, smooth and free from obstructions. The escape-line shall be tightened to such a tension that a man suspended on such a line twenty feet (20 ft.) to twenty-five feet (25 ft.) from the anchor will touch the ground. The escape-line shall be attached to the derrick at a point to provide a ready and convenient means of escape for the derrickman at the fourble-board or other principal working-platform, and shall extend to a securely anchored deadman. The length of the escape-line shall be twice the height of the derrick to which it is attached.

(b) Each escape-line shall be equipped with a safety-buggy or other approved device provided with a suitable hand-brake that shall be kept at the fourble-board or principal working-platform at all times during which a workman is engaged thereon. The safety-buggy or other approved device shall be inspected at weekly intervals, and a record of such inspection shall be entered in the drilling report-book by the tool-pusher in charge at the well.

Cellars

64. Cellars, after the setting and heading-up of the surface casing, with the exception of those less than four feet (4 ft.) deep or those in which a false flooring has been installed to make such cellar less than four feet (4 ft.) in depth, shall be provided with two runways constructed opposite each other, extending from the cellar-bottom to the ground-surface. The slope of the runway shall not exceed twenty (20) degrees from the horizontal. The width shall not be less than three feet (3 ft.) in the clear. The clearance between the floor of a runway and the derrick sills shall not be less than seven feet (7 ft.). The cellar and cellar exit shall be secured against caving by the use of sheeting and shoring installed in a manner that will permit the unobstructed passage of employees, and the runway shall be kept clear of snow or other material.

Spudding-in

65. The spudding-in or drilling operations at any petroleum or natural-gas well shall not be performed until all moving parts of machinery are completely guarded, and until all stairways, hand-rails, and escape-lines with escape-buggy are adequately installed and securely fastened in position.

Drilling Report-book

66. At every drilling rig there shall be kept a hard-covered book in which shall be entered information as required by these regulations, and this book shall be readily available to an authorized person at all times.

Housekeeping

67. No tools, machine parts, or material of any kind shall be kept in a derrick above the derrick floor unless there is occasion for their immediate use, and then reasonable precautions shall be taken to prevent their falling on persons below. Where pipe-hooks are used above the derrick floor, every pipe-hook shall be secured to the derrick in such a manner as to prevent the hook from falling.

Machinery in Motion

68. Workmen shall not be required or permitted to lubricate a draw-works, hoist, pump, compressor, prime mover, or machinery of any kind nor make any adjustments or repairs thereto or thereon when such machinery is in motion and the workman performing such duties is subject to contact with or dangerously exposed to revolving or reciprocating parts of such machinery.

Guards

69. (a) Guards of heavy metal strong enough to withstand the shock of breaking sprocket chains shall be installed on both sides of the draw-works to guard all drive-sprockets and chains so that workmen cannot come in contact with the moving parts.

(b) The guard for the low-gear drum-drive sprockets and chain next to the driller shall be flanged with a steel plate so that a breaking chain cannot hit the driller or foul the brake-lever.

(c) On every chain-drive rotary, the pinion-shaft, the couplings, and the bevel gears shall be guarded with metal shields.

(d) On every shaft-drive rotary, the drive-pinion, the shaft, the coupling, and the bevel gears shall be guarded with metal shields.

(e) The pump end of every rotary hose shall be securely fastened to the derrick, and the swivel end of such hose shall be securely fastened to the swivel-housing with a safety-chain or wire cable.

(f) The key-seat and the projecting key on every cathead shall be covered with a smooth thimble.

(g) The tops and outer sides of the hoisting-drum brake-flanges shall be guarded by a steel plate of a thickness not less than one-eighth inch ($\frac{1}{8}$ in.), and these guards shall be installed with a minimum working clearance from the brake and shall be securely bolted in place.

(h) Where practicable, a locking device shall be installed on all control-levers.

(i) A rotary table shall have not less than five inches (5 in.) of its top outer surface covered with a circular "rough tread" metal plate guard at least three-eighths inch ($\frac{3}{8}$ in.) in thickness and having a circular metal band or skirt not less than one-fourth inch ($\frac{1}{4}$ in.) in thickness welded to the outer edge of the "rough tread" metal plate and extending downward to completely cover all the exposed rotating side of the rotary table including the pinion-gear.

Counter-weights

70. On rotary drilling rigs every counterbalance above the derrick floor, when not fully encased or running in permanent guides, shall be attached to the frame of the derrick with a separate wire-rope safety-line not less than five-eighths inch ($\frac{5}{8}$ in.) in diameter, so as to prevent the counterbalance from coming within eight feet (8 ft.) of the floor.

Weight-indicators

71. A weight-indicator shall be used in connection with hoisting equipment which will indicate the approximate load of the travelling block, travelling-block hook, and the load suspended therefrom.

Brakes

72. (a) The brakes on the draw-works of every drilling rig shall be tested by each driller when he comes on shift to show whether they are in good order, and such brakes shall also be examined at weekly intervals by the tool-pusher or other person authorized by the operator, who shall enter the result of this examination in the drilling report-book over his signature. The operator shall never leave the brake without tying it down.

(b) Drillers shall never engage the rotary clutch without watching the rotary table. The rotary-clutch mechanism shall be equipped with approved positive-acting safety-lock to prevent clutch from being engaged accidentally. The driller or any other operator shall never leave the controls while hoisting-drum is in motion.

Hoisting-lines

73. (a) Every hoisting-line used for well-drilling, well-servicing, or well-abandoning operations shall have when new a rated factor of safety of not less than five, based on manufacturer's specifications of ultimate strength, and no line shall remain in use with a factor of safety of less than three. The hoisting-line shall be long enough so that there will remain at least three wraps of rope on the hoist-drum, under operating conditions.

(b) Every hoisting-line shall be examined weekly by the tool-pusher or other person authorized by the operator to determine the condition of the line, who shall enter the result of his examination in the drilling report-book over his signature. Every hoisting-line shall be replaced when examination indicates that worn wires, broken wires, visible corrosion, or other damage or defects make it unserviceable or unsafe.

(c) The end of the hoisting-line shall be secured to the hoist-drum with a fastening that is equal to at least the breaking-strength of the line.

(d) A hoisting-line, when a load is imposed thereon, shall not be permitted to be in direct contact with any derrick member or any stationary equipment or material in the derrick at any point in its length between its points of contact with the hoist-drum and dead-line anchor respectively, except the crown-block and travelling-block sheaves, a line spooler or line stabilizer.

(e) In rotary drilling operations, when operating conditions cause the dead-line to swing and contact the derrick members or equipment or material in the derrick, a stabilizer or stabilizers shall be provided on the dead-line that will prevent the line from swinging and contacting such members, equipment, or material. A stabilizer shall not grip the line so tightly as to prevent free movement of the line through the stabilizer.

(f) Metal parts of a line spooler and line stabilizer shall be guarded against contact with the hoisting-line with rubber or other suitable non-metallic material.

(g) Every line spooler and line stabilizer having sheaves, rollers, or other rotating parts shall have a guard that will prevent them falling should they become displaced from their bearing or fastenings.

(h) Every overhead sheave or pulley on which a line-spooler counter-weight rope runs shall be securely fastened to its support with steel or iron brackets, bolts, wire cable, or welded thereto.

Blocks

74. (a) The sheaves of a travelling block shall be guarded with heavy guards that will prevent accidental contact with the sheaves or with the nip point where the hoisting-lines run onto and off the sheaves.

(b) Every travelling-block sheave guard shall be securely fastened to the travelling block to prevent it becoming accidentally displaced under the most severe operating conditions, such as when jarring on a stuck string of pipe, contact or impact with the fingers and finger-boards, or pipe standing in the derrick.

(c) Every travelling-block hook or other hook or open link suspended from a travelling block, to which an elevator, elevator link, swivel bail, or other equipment is either directly or indirectly attached, including the open hooks or links of such attached equipment, shall be equipped with a safety latch or device that will provide a completely and securely closed hook or link. Such latch or device shall be adequate to prevent any such material from becoming accidentally disengaged when in use under the most severe operating conditions, such as when jarring on a stuck string of pipe, contact or impact with the fingers and finger-boards, or pipe standing in the derrick.

(d) Every travelling block, travelling-block hook, elevator and elevator link, or similar travelling equipment shall be reasonably free of projecting bolts, nuts, pins, or other parts on which the clothing of workmen may be caught or that may foul the derrick members or other equipment or material in the derrick.

Line Guards

75. (a) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to contact a travelling hoisting-line for the purpose of swinging or preventing the swinging of the travelling blocks unless they are provided with a suitable hand-guard that will provide protection to the palm of the hand against contact with the line.

(b) The hand-guard shall be secured to the derrick with a one-half-inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ -in.) diameter three-strand manila rope or equivalent.

Riding Lines

76. (a) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to ride the hoisting-line, travelling block, the travelling-block hook, the elevators, or any of the equipment suspended therefrom or attached thereto as a means of ascending or descending to or from the derrick.

(b) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to ride the catline as a means of ascending or descending to or from any point in the derrick, except to perform duties of a temporary or emergency nature which cannot be performed by a workman from an inside derrick platform, stabbing-board, or the derrick floor, and then only when sitting in the loop formed by tying a bowline knot in the catline or sitting in a boatswain's chair securely tied to the catline or other equally safe and secure carriage.

(c) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to carry on their person when climbing a ladder, a derrick or mast, or any structure, except by way of a stairway or ramp, any tools, equipment, or material, the total weight of which exceeds twenty-five pounds (25 lb.), and then only when carried in such a manner as to prevent them falling on persons below and to leave both hands of the workman free for his own safety while climbing.

(d) Any time that a man is being raised in a boatswain's chair with the catline, the driller shall personally control the catline and shall use the minimum number of wraps. One man shall remain stationed at the master clutch until boatswain's chair has returned to the floor.

Catheads

77. (a) Each cathead on which a rope is manually operated shall be equipped with an anti-rope-fouling device which will keep the first full encircling wrap of rope from contact with the nip point of the on-running rope at its first point of contact with the cathead. The device shall have its edge nearest the friction surface of the cathead fitted and adjusted to within not more than one-fourth inch ($\frac{1}{4}$ in.) from the friction surface of the cathead and shall be maintained free of sharp edges which will cut or materially abrade a rope when in use on the cathead.

(b) Each cathead on which a rope is manually operated shall have a rope-guide consisting of rollers, sheaves, or equivalent device to hold the on-running rope in alignment with its normal running position against the inner flange of the cathead. The rope-guide shall be maintained free of sharp edges which will cut or materially abrade a rope when in use on the cathead.

(c) The friction surface and flanges of a cathead on which a rope is manually operated shall be reasonably smooth. The friction surface shall have a uniform diameter across its entire width between the inner and outer flanges not to exceed a plus or minus tolerance of three-sixteenths of an inch ($\frac{3}{16}$ in.).

(d) A cathead on which a rope is manually operated shall have none of the shaft on which it is mounted nor a key, bolt, nut, or other locking device, or any parts projecting beyond a point flush with the outside edge of the outer flange of the cathead. Each cathead having a key, bolt, nut, or similar projection on the outer end thereof or in the hollow outer end thereof on which a workman's hands or clothing may be caught shall be covered with a smooth plate.

(e) When any rope or line is in use on a cathead, all other ropes and lines shall be placed so as not to be in contact with the cathead or with the rope or line in use on the cathead.

(f) No rope or line operated manually on a cathead shall be left, wrapped on or in contact with a cathead, unattended, except when the power has been disconnected and precautions taken to prevent the power being turned on while the rope or line is wrapped on or in contact with the cathead.

(g) When a rope or line is being manually operated on a cathead, there shall be a workman at the controls of the draw-works hoist or machine who is experienced in the operation thereof to stop the rotation of the cathead promptly in case of emergency.

(h) No rope splice or frayed part of a rope or line shall be operated manually on the friction surface of a cathead.

Pipe-stands

78. Every stand of pipe and drill-collars racked in a derrick shall be secured with rope or otherwise adequately secured to prevent them falling across the derrick in case the finger becomes broken or dislodged. An adequate horizontal supporting member shall be provided in the derrick, and each end thereof shall be secured respectively to and on the outside of adjacent derrick legs, to which the stands of pipe and drill-collars shall be tied, unless the derrick girts are of adequate strength to be used for that purpose without being broken, permanently bent, or otherwise damaged, or unless other adequate provisions are made for securing the pipe and drill-collars.

Pipe Storage

79. (a) Every pipe and equipment storage-rack and platform shall be designed, constructed, and placed upon substantial foundations and so maintained to safely support the loads placed thereon.

(b) Adequate provision shall be made to prevent pipe, drill-collars, drill-stems, or similar round material accidentally rolling off a storage-rack by nailing chock-blocks to the bents or decking of the rack and to the planks or spacers used between the layers of pipe or other material on the rack, or by any other equally effective means.

(c) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to be on the pipe or similar round material loaded on a transporting vehicle unless an adequate number of stakes of sufficient height and strength are in the pockets or wells provided therefor in the vehicle's bed or bolsters, or the load is otherwise secured to prevent it rolling from the vehicle.

(d) Workmen shall not be required or permitted to be on the ground adjacent to a vehicle on which pipe or similar round material is loaded where they would be in danger of such material rolling off the vehicle on them, until and (or) unless one or more of the following safety precautions are in effect:—

- (1) The pipe or similar round material on the vehicle is secured with binder chains or similar binders:
- (2) An adequate number of stakes of sufficient height and strength are in the pockets or wells provided therefor in the vehicle's bed or bolsters:
- (3) The skids for rolling or skidding the pipe or similar round material to or from the vehicle is securely in place, whereby the workman, if necessary to be beside the vehicle, by stooping to a position below the skids would be protected from the hazard of the rolling pipe or material.

Wet-box

80. A wet-box that will prevent liquid being sprayed on workmen and that will prevent, as far as it is practicable to do so, liquid being spilled on the floor shall be provided and used on drill-pipe and tubing at the point above the derrick-floor level where a joint or stand of pipe or tubing is being unscrewed and disconnected when the liquid-level there is above the point of unscrewing and disconnecting. The wet-box shall have a hose or pipe connected to the bottom thereof that will convey the liquid so restrained to a place of disposal off the derrick floor or other walkways or passageways.

Pipe-hooks

81. If pipe-hooks are used above the derrick floor, every pipe-hook shall be secured to the derrick in such a manner as to prevent the hook from falling.

Pipe Slip-handles

82. (a) The handles of drill-pipe slips shall be sufficiently long to extend at least two inches (2 in.) beyond the greatest radial dimensions of the drill-pipe elevator body, except that where handles of such length would project beyond the inner edge of the circular guard covering the top outer surface of the rotary table, then the handles shall be as long as is possible without projecting beyond the inner edge of the guard.

(b) The slip-handles for casing slips and tubing slips respectively shall be sufficiently long to extend at least two inches (2 in.) beyond the greatest radial dimensions of the casing elevator or tubing elevator or the casing spider or tubing spider respectively, whichever of the two is the smaller, provided that it is possible to do so without the handles being more than eighteen inches (18 in.) in length. The length of slip-handles of any slip that is manually operated shall not exceed eighteen inches (18 in.).

Latches

83. Every drill-pipe casing, tubing, and sucker-rod hook shall be provided with a latch or other device designed to prevent elevator links and other equipment becoming accidentally disengaged from the hook.

The pull-back post shall be secured either to the derrick foundation, side sills, or floor sills and shall not be attached to or in contact with the derrick legs, girts, or braces.

Breaking Joints

87. The breaking or snapping-up of tool joints or pipe joints by means of applying the power of the prime mover to and rotating the rotary table through the table's power transmission drive shall be prohibited. The snapping-up of a tool joint, by use of an automatic cathead or pipe-joint breaker of the jaw-clutch type which automatically disengages its clutch at the completion of a fixed stroke, shall be prohibited. The rotary table shall not be used for final making-up or initial breaking-out of drill-pipe.

Safety-belts

88. (a) A safety-belt securely fastened to the derrick shall be provided and shall be worn by each workman when engaged in working above the derrick floor.

(b) At any stabbing-board the safety-belt rope shall be attached to a one-inch (1-in.) manila rope, or to a wire or other type of rope of equal strength, stretched across the derrick at approximately seven feet (7 ft.) above the stabbing-board.
